

Letter to Einstein

August 17, 2011

Dear Sir,

I am a high school student and have a problem.

My teacher and I were talking about Satan. Of course you know that when he fell from heaven, he fell for nine days, and nine nights, at 32 feet a second and was increasing his speed every second.

I was told there was a formula to it. I know you don't have time for such little things, but if possible please send me the formula.

Thank you,

Jerry

The above was a letter sent to Einstein by a young boy, Jerry from Richmond, Virginia in 1952. Einstein never responded. Perhaps you can help the boy compute where heaven is?
